Dialogue

"The other night I found out what a lot of people from the area do for entertainment."

"Well, anyone who would go around pecking into windows ought to be arrested."

"No, that's not what I did. Besides, a lot of people would be home. I'm sure."

"With the summer season on television, many of us are finding out where the movie and TV stars are making regular appearances. And we watch them as we see them perform."

"You and a lot of people in the area?"

"More and more than I want to see. Here today starring Jane Russell and Tony Dow at the Mill Run Playhouse in Niles and was surprised to see many familiar faces."

"But maybe I shouldn't be surprised. The suburban theatre idea does have a lot going for it."

"You don't have to drive into Chicago Loop and fight center, as Mill Run and others like it are, you can quickly find a place to park and best of all, there's no parking charge."

"I can appreciate that, but paid nearly four dollars to park in Chicago on a theatre night. I don't want to do that."

"I can't see how that compares to those in the big city."

"I know. I would say, Mill Run, for example, is a comfortable, air-conditioned theatre-theatrical that puts the audience close to stars that we watched on TV and in the movies. You can tell why they became stars and can envision some of the supporting cast becoming stars."

"Oh, so what's the play like? I haven't heard of it."

"I never did, either. But it's a fast-moving comedy by George Oppenheimer that keeps the audience laughing."

"Jane Russell plays the part of a writer (Mary Hilliard) who's co-author books with Stanley, played by Bill Miller."

"Mary is the actress of Philip Graves, played by Roger Barrett, who is engaged to Claire Windsor, played by Kit Woodhouse, who is also engaged to Spencer Gray, played by Dick Sodenstrom."

"Tony Dow, who is well-known as Wally Cleaver of the 'Leave it to Beaver' TV show, plays the part of the alcoholic brother of Claire and the immature friend of Spencer Gray. The two have succeeded in signing up a 'topless' dancer for the supporting cast because of his interest in her."

...with George Hamilton

"Any way, the interrelationship of all the characters makes the play a hunkie one that in turn makes for an enjoyable time."

"Besides the people from one area, you can see any celebrities in the audience as you did at the last show."

"I remember my mother and I went to see the show on a morning newspaper Chicago Star, and we were there for three days."

"No, neither he nor any of the rest of them were there that time. But by coincidence I had the same seat as the Chicago columnist that was in the play and I had no trouble staying."

"Maybe he was fired after the way he sat in the suburbs."

"It's possibility."

"I know it's disillusioning, but let's face it, there is a lot of values handed down by permissive parents!"

ALTHOUGH THERE were many in the territory, Cook advocated that the territory be divided into the five non-free states.

Western declined, in the age of the non-free states.

He had, with having provided the land for the state of America a new state.

Additional position points written into the Illinois constitution, but the state's first congressmen, John McLean was a pro-slavery congressman. Cook felt so strongly about the matter that he ran against McLean and won the seat in Congress in 1820 and was re-elected in 1822 and in 1824. His anti-slavery position eventually was taken up by Abraham Lincoln.

Cook cast the tie-breaking vote in Congress to make John Quincy Adams President of the United States. He has won all national elections in Congress to get the canal dug through the Illinois territory.

He was the first to establish a park now called the Dan Cook Park. Like Michigan with the Menominee River.

It was this act which resulted in the county on the north of Lake Michigan to be named for him. Cook was created in 1831 when he was a village of 600 people. Dan Cook had been born four years. He died in 1827 as the age of 33.

As a father of six, and as an officer holder who means his people, I think the wild boys and girls are a very small minority.

"ON THE WHOLE, I find young people today are the best educated, the most intelligent and the most patriotic of any young people I have ever known. It is the real danger to our way of life is that from the dramatic youth, but from the indifferent, well-fed, satisfied Americans who never speak and don't vote."

"The polling place often an arena, and the two-party system offers a vehicle for anybody who wants to help make progress." Howlett concluded.

Ralph C. Hahn of Springfield, Illinois, a member of the University of Illinois was appointed to the position of chairman of the Illinois Youth Forum. The appointment was made by Illinois' Nominating Committee.

Reforms That May Bring Improved Postal Service

"Neither sun, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

The climatically accented words borrowed from Herodotus for inscription on the monumental portal of New York's Main Post Office have turned out to be unexpectedly apt.

The weather and the postal service do have something in common. Everyone talks about them.

There is also a hopeful difference—managing the weather may still be out of our reach, but we just may get around to doing something about the mail.

A presidential commission, after a year of study, is reported ready with recommendations for far-reaching changes in the postal system's status and organization.

Appointed immediately after then Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien suggested a thorough overhauling, the commission is said to have in basic agreement with O'Brien's key point.

"The Post Office should be transformed from a cabinet-level executive department into a nonprofit governmental corporation, managed by a board of directors with broad powers in areas — personnel, pay and post rates — now prerogatives of Congress."

The goal would be a self-sustaining operation after five years, relying solely as revenues.

That could be asking too much. Most of us probably would settle for less — rapid and dependable service.

The recommendations face tough going in Congress, which has powerful political reasons for wanting to keep its finger on the postal pie. There is little chance of action without a strong majority in both houses, and before they see the light of day, it may not be the only or the best way of solving the country's postal problems.

But the proposal is the most promising to come down the pike so far.

Bake a Red, White and Blue 'Star Cake' for the 4th

If you are planning to stay home on the Fourth of July, celebrate the glorious Fourth with this flying high and a red, white and blue 'Star Cake' especially created for the holiday. No special equipment is needed just a 10 inch cake pan for the angel food cake and a 9-inch square cake pan for the star portion of the cake. If you're in a hurry, package cake for both will do fine.

After both cakes have been prepared, baked and cooled, place them on a tray or platter and follow the directions with the photographs.

Your youngsters will enjoy helping with the decorating and adding the final touch-traditional Fourth of July miniature flags.

Right- "Star Cake" is colorful and fun to make for the Fourth of July. Top photo Cut one 9-inch square cake in the form of a star using a pattern furnished with the photographs. Place the star atop an angel food cake. Prepare a fluffy white or vanilla frosting, filling one-fourth of it blue and one-fourth red. Frosting the top of the star with the red, the sides of the star with blue and the rest of the cake white. (Photo courtesy The West Bend Company)

The finished cake - a red, white and blue "Star Cake" perfect for celebrating the Fourth at home.

Misery is ... Happiness is ...

By GERRY WALSH
Misery is ... Happiness is ... you probably have seen these funny and nostalgic little books about childhood. We all laugh and even cry a little as we view the simple pencil drawings, and remember our childhood as we read the sensitive captions. As housewives and mothers we still have our little miseries too. Here are some examples; you "do it yourself" on the drawings. I finished Art. Misery for the bride is pouring rain.

Misery is when you have planned, saved, and really cooked for your lovely dinner party ... and the kids come down that very day with flu, or a contagious disease.

Misery is when you say, "The luck with this house, just for today, I'm going to say in my robe, not do a lick of work, and catch up on my reading" - then two perfectly good other neighbors drop in unexpectedly.

Misery is when you have just had a disastrous permanent or haircut, and these days are invited to a reunion party with friends whom you haven't seen in years.

Misery is when you wear your new cocktail dress, and discover your hostess has the same dress - added misery because you bought it at a discount house.

Misery is when you are five feet eight (5'8" - six 1/2) and your two friends who are five feet two (5'2" - five 1/2) are getting married. Misery is when you have just had a disastrous permanent or haircut, and these days are invited to a reunion party with friends whom you haven't seen in years.

New Ideas in Summer Coolers

New refreshment ideas for summer evenings are something that everyone gets excited about. The possibilities are limited.

For a fruit flavored refreshment mix to taste, mix and match the many canned and frozen fruit juices, syrups and punches with milk, ice cream, sherbet and fruit.

Here are three ideas from the home economists at Meadow Gold Dairies using ice cream and sherbet.

FROSTED FLOAT
A top swirled plain vanilla float

1 medium banana
1/2 cup strawberry juice, chilled
1 scoop fresh vanilla ice cream

Combine juice and banana in blender. Top each drink with a scoop of ice cream. Makes two servings.

LEMON MIST
1 1/2 cups lemonade
1/2 cup strawberry juice, chilled
2 scoops lemon sherbet
Combine in blender. Makes four servings.

HAWAIIAN FREEZE
1 qt milk
1 (600) can BROWN CRISP juice, thawed
1 cup pineapple cherry

Ready for Lions Club Fair

27 Attending Summer Classes

Debra Lynn Thruway, a student at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, is one of 27 students from 25 Chicago area high schools chosen to participate in Field Museum's summer training program in anthropology.

The students will learn archaeological excavation techniques by actually working at a local site, under the guidance of Field Museum anthropologists.

Students with high ability are encouraged to participate in the program, which was based on academic achievement.

Dow Flips For Mill Run Play

BY LINDA GAMMILL

Theories and athletes are not usually mentioned on the same page of a newspaper, but with Tony Dow (Beverly Hills) brother Wally currently co-starring in "Here Today" at the Mill Run Playhouse in Niles, the two fit together very nicely. Dow has been familiar to television watchers as a letter writer-winning high school athletes since the days of the "Leave It to Beaver" series which ran successfully for six years. And now he is again cast as the athletic type, portraying Jeffrey Windsor, whom Dow termed Saturday afternoon as an "athletic young idiot."

TONY LITERALLY blazes through his role, spending most of his time on stage climbing and diving through windows, running in and out of the exits, and flipping on a trampoline.

The trampoline was not a part of the original act, but Carl Stuenkel, producer for the Mill Run Playhouse, decided that it would make a good prop. "Stuenkel brought the trampoline in," said Tony, "because you can do so many things with it. You can sit on it, lay on it, crawl under it or bounce on it."

And Dow does a lot of bouncing. In the second act, he leaps onto the trampoline, does a few somersaults while talking to his leading lady, Jane Russell, and then flips off, landing on his feet and runs offstage to go "for a drink."

HE IS WELL qualified in trampoline work, having competed as a youngster in Burbank, Cal., against gymnasts who today are ranked among the top collegiate performers in the country. Dow also competed in swimming and diving meets in Burbank, and made it to the Olympic volleyball tryouts in both 1964 and 1968.

He now lives on a 54-acre estate in San Pedro, Cal. when not busy acting. Dow, 23, was in the National Guard and also attended UCLA, majoring in psychology.

THOMAS SAID FRIDAY night that he did not know of Dow's athletic background when he decided to incorporate the use of the trampoline.

"When he wanted to use the trampoline," said Tony, "The asked me if I could do anything on it, and I told him I could."

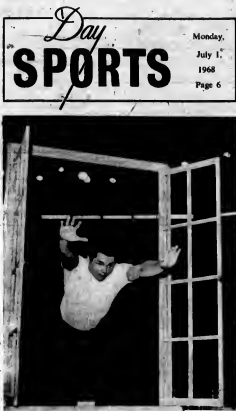

"BUT THAT thing is dangerous," Dow confirmed. "It is a child's toy, and isn't supposed to be used by anyone over 150 pounds. I'm 160, so I have to watch it when I bounce because the springs aren't very strong." Tony said that if he bounces too hard, he might either hit his head on the ceiling, or hit the ground with his feet.

In the final act, Tony saves a member of the play's characters, Spencer Grant, an insurance executive for whom he works, from drowning. In order to do this, Tony dives through a window opening.

The diving through the window wasn't written into the play either, and Dow explained why it was used. "Stuenkel thought it would be a jump through the window to save him. I said, 'Why don't I just go to bed.'"

WITH TWO performances ahead of his Saturday night,

Dow was a little unsure of himself. "I don't think I'll make it," he said jokingly, 45 minutes before the first show began. But he did, and he will be flipping nightly until the show ends July 14.

Diving diving somersaults through an open window and landing on the stage floor, Tony said, "I don't think I'll make it."

Above-Tony Dow, currently starring in "Here Today" at the Mill Run Playhouse in Niles, displays his athletic talents throughout the play by doing flips and somersaults on the trampoline, running in and out of the exits, and diving through a window prior to rescuing his drowning hero. ## Al Over 21 Can Buy Liquor

BY TED LACEY

As a result of an Arlington Heights resident's complaint to the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, all liquor sellers in the state yesterday were ordered to stop selling liquor from anyone under 21 years old.

"Liquor sellers must not arbitrarily prohibit minors over 21 from liquor sales," Chairman of the Liquor Control Commission Howard S. McVicker said.

Carriage threatened revocation or suspension of liquor licenses if sellers do not permit signs indicating that liquor is sold to persons under 21 or 22 must be removed immediately," he said.

"The legal age for buying liquor is 21 and it is not that that liquor sellers have become overzealous in their efforts not to sell to anyone under 21."

It was said that the commission does not know how liquor sellers have restricted their sales in this way, and that "we were not aware of the signs until they were brought to our attention. When a complaint was filed."

McVicker attempted to buy an alcoholic beverage at the Arlington Heights Drug Store on Wednesday.

After being refused the sale, he called the police, who then told McVicker personally that the retail violation was his.

But McVicker's didn't go to court immediately. McVicker said. The state representative refused the matter to the liquor control department.

On May 27, McVicker, planning of this situation to the Liquor Control Commission. Some time afterward the signs in the store were taken down.

It has not been made clear yet how McVicker's order will be enforced, but McVicker suggested that local police departments should be notified of a "direct violation of an Illinois statute," and also police already enforce the law against sale of liquor to minors.

Some liquor sellers set the age of their license at 21 or 25, McVicker said, to protect themselves from possible alcoholic sale

Ray Kohn, director of public relations for the hospital, said the week of rain followed by a sunny Sunday were responsible for the increase in mower accidents.

The grass grew so tall that everybody wanted to get it down on Sunday. That increased the probability that people would be injured in accidents during the weekend, he said.

Seven people were injured in accidents during the weekend, he said.

The Balling Mountains Library Board, Martin Lake at 1 p.m.

McVicker attempted to buy an alcoholic beverage at the Arlington Heights Drug Store on Wednesday.

After being refused the sale, he called the police, who then told McVicker personally that the retail violation was his.

But McVicker's didn't go to court immediately. McVicker said. The state representative refused the matter to the liquor control department.

On May 27, McVicker, planning of this situation to the Liquor Control Commission. Some time afterward the signs in the store were taken down.

It has not been made clear yet how McVicker's order will be enforced, but McVicker suggested that local police departments should be notified of a "direct violation of an Illinois statute," and also police already enforce the law against sale of liquor to minors.

Some liquor sellers set the age of their license at 21 or 25, McVicker said, to protect themselves from possible alcoholic sale

Cornell Succeeds Cowen as Deputy

John E. Cornell, 1521 E. Campbell, Arlington Heights, last week was appointed deputy chairman of the Wheeling Township Republican Organization.

Cornell succeeds Richard A. Cowen, 515 Reuter Dr. Arlington Heights, who resigned recently to devote more time to his job as campaign manager for the township Republicans.

The president in Cornell's case includes Mayor Prospect and Arlington Heights. Cornell previously was a precinct captain in Arlington Heights.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts 2

Two Arlington Heights residents were indicted by a federal grand jury June 27 and charged with the deaths of the victims of the Haystack.

The indictments were in connection with Nov. 18, 1964, and Jan. 13, 1965, robberies of a Crystal Lake, Ill., store.

NERWESCO Dilemma: Where to Get Money

BY JENNIFER JOYCE

Unless the Northeast Opportunity Center gets more money from somewhere, it will run out of funds Aug. 1.

Federal aid to the center, serving Spanish-speaking people, was cut off by the federal government.

Village Won't Renew Two Liquor Licenses

The liquor licenses of two establishments in Arlington Heights will not be renewed.

Mayor John Woods said late last week.

The license for Arlington Heights, 214 W. 1st, will not be renewed, Woods said, following an investigation by the village police department.

Day at HOME Girl Scouts Aid Juniors

The Girl Scouts of Rolling Meadows have agreed to aid the Rolling Meadows Junior Women's Club in supplying food parcels for Rolling Meadows servicemen stationed in Vietnam.

Concerned with the club's schedule to decrease activities over the summer months, Mrs. Ronald Hodor, recently appointed chairman of the Home and Garden Committee, sought outside assistance. Mrs. Ted Wierling, community chairman of the Rolling Meadows Girl Scout troop endorsed the idea and urged the need to continue the project, and offered the services of her unit troops to collect food and personal care items.

While our packages lack the luxury of the Care program, the packages we are sending are no less appreciated. We are sure that no clothing or survival items added to the parcels, the unqualified response from the local servicemen who have already received a package is overwhelming," said Mrs. Hodor.

The list of food being collected by the Girl Scouts is quite extensive and includes such items as Kool-Aid, food mixes, lemons, and canned goods such as soups, potatoes, and apples. It is just what you need in the field, said Mrs. Hodor.

MRS. HODOR said she expects from letters recently received by the Junior Women's Club. "Our package was a wonderful surprise when it came."

wrote Sgt. Earl Young of the 549th Light Maintenance Company and the packages changed hands many times already. It has really been appreciated by all of the guys."

Quipped Sgt. David White, "Everything that you sent will be gratefully consumed, except the books and soap, they don't fit into my diet."

The Rolling Meadows Junior Women's Club will take care of the postage as they have in the past. Wrapping of the packages will be handled by committee members who have volunteered to work through the summer on the project.

"Anyone wishing to contribute items on simple can be sent," said Mrs. Hodor. "On learning of our project one woman suggested the send a letter to the man in the field, if it's left unopened," wrote PFC Tom Clark attached to the 1st Infantry Division, with duty in the main post area.

"The candy is all gone now."

Mrs. W. G. Elsner, director of the costume of Betty Ross, admires the 13-year flag she will hold while delegating in the 4th of July parade in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Dennis Pary (right) designed both the costume and the decorations for the car entered in the parade by the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club.

'Flag of Freedom'

"Flag of Freedom" will be the theme of the decorated car entered in the 4th of July parade in Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club. The car will be covered in white and red lettering and blue accents and will feature Mrs. G. Elsner dressed in a costume made by Mrs. Dennis Pary.

Wearing a long skirt, ruffled blouse, and a long-sleeved dress, Mrs. Elsner will be holding a flag with a 13-star field, fashioned after the first flag of the 13 colonies. The car will be driven by Mrs. Raymond Crouch, club president.

It's Wagon's Ho' For Girl Scouts

The call "Wagon's Ho" will start 64 northwest area Girl Scouts on two popular 10-day Sequential train trips in August.

Leaving from Lake Zurich on Aug. 12, the first group of 32 eighth, ninth and tenth-grade Cadettes, dressed in calico skirts and sunbonnets will board a covered wagon that will be drawn by a team of horses. The next wagon will be filled with supplies and equipment for their journey. First night campsite is at Camp Harry Hallow in Wisconsin.

As a safety measure, from Indian attacks but from wild motorists, a mounted horseback rider will follow the wagon.

THE GROUP is scheduled to arrive at their destination the following day for a homestead period ending Aug. 16. The group will return by bus to Randolph.

The second half of 32 members will travel by bus from Randolph to Harry Hallow on Sunday, July 14 and will be on the land until Sunday when they will greet the wagon.

The total cost is $20 to defray the travel overhead, cost of provisions and a $1 premium for health and accident insurance coverage.

MORE than the increases accepted by 350,000 other telephone employees throughout the country.

MORE than the increases granted by other major industries such as auto, can, rubber, aluminum, and Western Union.

All of these employees have accepted new three year contracts with increases both in wages and fringe benefits. Increases in other industries range from 12.58 per cent to 15.16 per cent.

The telephone company gave them all with increases of nearly 20 per cent.

Yet the IBEW bargaining team in Illinois demands MORE.

This is why the telephone strike continues.

The IBEW leaders in Illinois have made the demands quite clear: They want MORE—far MORE—than the increases accepted by hundreds of thousands of other workers.

They want MORE than the increases accepted by 350,000 other telephone employees throughout the country.

MORE than the increases granted by other major industries such as auto, can, rubber, aluminum, and Western Union.

All of these employees have accepted new three year contracts with increases both in wages and fringe benefits. Increases in other industries range from 12.58 per cent to 15.16 per cent.

The telephone company gave them all with increases of nearly 20 per cent. Yet the IBEW bargaining team in Illinois demands MORE.

IBEW members could be enjoying these benefits

We have offered the IBEW a substantial three-year contract. Top craftsmen in Chicago, for example, would get increases totaling $26 a week within two years, including an immediate increase of $14 a week.

This means each man getting these increases would collect $3,120 in additional pay over the next three years.

In addition, they would enjoy improvements in many fringe benefits such as overtime pay, vacations, pensions, medical and life insurance and disability payments.

Overall, these increases which would be effective over the next two years add up to about a 20 per cent increase in compensation.

Again, the IBEW leaders in Illinois rejected this offer, repeating their demand for significantly more than everyone else has received.

These union leaders appear bent on achieving some kind of record for themselves. But we must ask: Is it a valid reason for penalizing the many customers waiting for telephones, threatening to disrupt the Democratic National Convention, and depriving thousands of telephone families of their regular income?

Someone must stand up for the public

You're tired of this strike by now. So are we.

But this dispute cannot be resolved until the union leaders abandon their position that they must get significantly more than anyone else.

Obviously, we cannot negotiate a contract that is far out of line with those in our own and other major industries.

This would not be fair to the public, which must eventually pay the bill. Nor to our other employees.

Meanwhile, we want to assure you that we are prepared to continue giving near-normal telephone service for an indefinite period. And we stand ready to resume negotiations at any time.

Prospect Ties Second Time, 6-6

For the second time in two games, Prospect's Summer League clash played to a tie called by darkness. Last Friday, the Knights tied Ad-dict Trail 5-5. And Monday evening they tied Constant to a 6-6 draw.

The game Monday went right into an eighth inning, Larry Pohlman went through three pitchers in search of a win. Constant held the game with Jim Carroll on the hill, and the rubber-arm John Larry later hit up with the last four batters.

Pohlman started Rex Sney on the mound, relieved him in the fifth with Ron Doherty and then brought in Warner Schlich in the eighth.

SNOW ALLOWED just one man to reach base in the first, and then was given a four-out run by the infielders in their half of the initial inning. Kevin Kammish walked to start the inning for Prospect and went to second as Mike Walbeckner singled. Kammish was safe on a force play at third, but was later forced out at home by Jim Carroll who grounded to second.

With three on base, Jeff Sney singled driving in Walbeckner, and was given by Steve Evenson right on a fly ball by Dave Lennon allowed Grant and Carroll to come across.

Sney went to third on the play and came in as Sandy Quillen, who was 2-4 at the plate and drove in two runs, singled. The play was at home, but Sney came in as the throw was sent back to second in an attempt to cut down Quillen.

DAVE SOMERS batted once and grounded out to second, but a delayed ball call was enforced and Quillen moved to third and Somers got another chance. He popped out to second in the eighth, but the inning at 6-6 in favor of the Knights.

Sney held Constant scoreless until the third when a walk and back-to-back singles got him into a run. Fletcher MacDonald drew the free throw in the fourth, and moved to third on the singles.

With base loaded, Sney whiffed Bill Donovan and the first out and then John Larry later hit up to second, but MacDonald was able to score on the play.

A second groundout to Steve Carroll at second stranded the other two batters.

THE KNIGHTS went down in order in the second, third and fourth, while Constant slowly began to catch up. The Cougars picked up two more runs in the top of the fourth on an error by Lennon at short and two singles. Evenson grounded to short, but Lennon's double went wide of first and the runner advanced to second. He scored on a single by Dave Kellermeyer, and Kellermeyer scored. Larry Cieski singled.

The fifth saw both clubs come up with another run. Constant momentarily tied things up as Sney singled, moved to second on a pitcher-to-first popup, and scored from second on Chris Minor's one-bagger.

PROSPECT MOVED ahead of the Cougars again in the bottom of the fifth on a single by Don Koehler and two successive errors by the Cougars' Kellermeyer.

Doherty, brought in to pitch in the last batter in the fifth, recorded four straight strikeouts before giving up a game-winning leadoff home run in the seventh to Furo.

In the eighth, Doherty gave up a run as Kellermeyer on four straight pitches, and then was fanned in favor of Schlich. Schlich didn't start out any better, walking the first two men to face him to load the bases.

TWO HARD GROUNDERS to Sney at third whiffed down Constant's chance of scoring as two runners were forced at home, but, with the home run hit, Schlich proved to be a tough force for Larry Cieski across with the go-ahead run. Schlich prevented any further scoring by whiffing Tommy Tremel.

Prospect, behind in the score column for the first time, immediately caught up. Sney and Lennon drew back-to-back walks, and Sney was driven in on a single by Quillen. Another hard attempt by Somers failed to score. Lennon who was thrown out, first to home. Two strikeouts followed by Furo knotted the game permanently at 6-6 in darkness as Sney, Schlich, and Carroll.

Today in a replay of a game washed out by last week's rain.

Game of the Day

'Cats Win on Gift Runs

BY RICK PRICE

The Wildcats punched across two unearned runs in the fifth inning to get a 7-5 setback on the previously-scheduled Generals in a Senior II division clash Monday night at Recreation Park.

The Wildcats had jumped off to an early lead by hitting five runs in the first inning, but saw their lead fade away as the single-batters scored two runs in the third inning and came back with three more in the fifth.

Paul Jensen initiated the first inning uppercut for the Wildcats as his first-inning ground ball bounced through the legs of Generals' shortstop Martin Bolognina. Jensen then advanced to second base on Tom O'Hagan's infield out and came scampering home moments later when Mike McCrann drilled a single to left field.

THE SPEEDY Wildcat first baseman then scored base and scored when General third baseman Craig Buntion's throw to first on a routine groundout off the bat of Ron Hopkins was high and wide. Hopkins scored as Pat McCrann stepped to home. General hurler Bruce Lett then walked Steve Brogan, and both men scored on Scott Barrett's high double.

Brogan, who started on the mound for the Wildcats, allowed only one hit in the first two frames. The bespectacled right-hander ran into trouble in the third inning, allowing two runs on two hits and an error. Lett slapped a hard grounder in the first base that was too hot for McCrann to handle. Lett then stole second base, and third when Mark Chaffey ran down between second and third baseman Jensen.

Bolognina then cracked a hard grounder, past a diving Jensen, which sent Chaffey home with the General's first run. Bolognina scored himself on a high double to left field off the bat of Dan Lau.

STEVE TURNER'S line single off left field started the fifth inning rally for the Generals. Rob Olin then made the play on Craig Conley's grounder, allowing Conley to reach first and winding Turner to third. Dan Lau then hit a line shot to center field that drove in Turner, and both Lau and Conley scored on Buntion's hard ground ball up the middle.

O'Hagan scored the go-ahead run for the Wildcats in the fifth inning, after walking and moving to second on a wild pitch, the sticky catcher scored.

McCrann's grounder bounced through the shortstop's legs. Hopkins then stepped to the plate and cracked a line single to left field.

IN AN ATTEMPT to stretch the hit to a double, Hopkins drew a throw from relief pitcher Larry Hogan. The throw to second sailed over everyone's head into center field enabling McCrann to score easily from third.

Cut Manning was the winning pitcher, coming in as a relief of starter Bolognina with one out in the fifth inning. After yielding a single to the first man he faced, Manning retired the next seven batters in succession to save the win for the Wildcats.

Armstrong, Stratton Take Palatine

Arlington's second baseman Steve Babin scrambles back to third to tag up on a fly ball before taking off to score the third of Arlington's seven runs against Palatine last night. Arlington won the bout, 7-2.

BY CURT WILSON

Dave Armstrong snatched a home run in the first inning for the Arlington Legionnaires last night against Palatine, and sparked a seven-run effort that gave Arlington a 7-2 victory.

Steve Stratton went four and two-thirds innings for the Post 203 visitors and picked up 13 strikeouts. He demonstrated good use of his curve ball and change of pace pitches. Stratton was relieved in the fifth inning by Steve Babin, who finished the game with no walks and a single hit given up.

Palatine ace Steve Babin was tagged with the loss although he allowed only four hits while he was on the mound, and walked just two batters.

Mattini, Chaps Go To Jaycee State Tourney

Ken Mattini and Doug Chaps will represent the Buffalo Grove Jaycees at the state Jayco golf tournament to be held at Lincoln Green in Springfield July 15-17.

Mattini fired a 77 to take low gross honors in the qualifying round played at Arlington Country Club on Monday, June 17. The St. Vincent Irishman was in the middle of the pack after his first nine holes of 42, but came back with a sparkling even par 35 on the back nine to nose out Chaps, Skip Kuehn and Rich Johnson by one shot.

Low net honors for the tournament went to Bruce Timko of Mount Prospect with a 64, followed by Pete Hahn of Arlington Heights who carded a net 67.

Arlington remained hitless after Armstrong's homer until the fourth inning, when he drew a base, hit by a pitch, and advanced on a sacrifice fly by catcher Jack Bastian. Armstrong hit second run when Joe Tuma hit a long sacrifice fly to deep right.

Palatine got their first runs in the fourth. Wes Dixon opened with a single, bunting while trying to steal second. Norm Lehn hit a single, and went to third when Dave Freeman singled.

THE RUN SCORED after Don Dixon failed for the second time. John Michalichio hit a grounder that forced Freeman to second and the inning. Meanwhile, however, Lehn had safely crossed the plate, and the umpire declared that the run scored.

An attempted and completed outplay in the top of the fifth padded Arlington's lead by two runs. Steve Babin, Kenny Davies and Cary Salm and Stratton opened the inning with a single each, and Jim Guezo doubled off with a sacrifice fly to right field that could have been a home run, had the wind been with it, and sent Salm home.

ARMSTRONG DREW a walk and stole second base before hitting Palatine's second run. Stratton saw his opportunity, and scored the fourth Arlington run on a stolen home plate.

Sanitary District Agrees To Finance Harper Sewer

Trustees of the Metropolitan Sanitary District came to the aid of Harper College Monday in financing the sewer system proposed for that school.

The district trustees included the Harper sewer in their request to the state legislature for authorization to issue $15 million in bonds for top priority projects in the district.

The sewer plan for the college campus received the support of Sen. John A. Graham (R-Barrington). If the sanitary district had not agreed to pay for the project, the college would have had to pay an additional $70,000.

The trustees included the college sewer plan in their request after school officials met in conference with Graham and Robert O. Archer, the mayor of Schaumburg, to present funds for the project from being cut.

THE FINANCIAL crisis of the sanitary district has hampered construction projects throughout the district and had endangered the health of its residents.

Did he find the general health improved? "I must have improved," said the new superintendent. "I gained 40 pounds in the first six months after I quit."

Strong likes to play golf, but in recent years he hasn't found time to play consistently, he said.

Arlington Heights' annual Fourth of July parade will begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

The lineup of 78 floats will include 10 floats from local churches, decorated cars and marching units.

The marching bands will include the Navy's Drum and Bugle Corps of Madison, Wis., and the Rolling Meadows Community Band.

The out-of-state band is being brought to Arlington Heights by the Jaycees Women's Auxiliary, which is sponsoring and organizing the parade.

scheduled date of the sewer construction at Harper.

The campus is slated to open by the fall of 1969, with an estimated enrollment of 5,000 students. Harper High School was used this past year for classroom and school along with Forest View High School, will be used during the next school year.

The $15 million package was a drastically trimmed version of what District Prospector Bacon originally wanted. His plan was to raise $380 million in a non-refundable bond issue for acquisition of sewer lines in the district. The plan would have included proposed others, or non-refundable bonds.

Each of these common fireworks is legally sold in Illinois.

But all must be ignited with a match before producing smoke-like sparks, pungent odors, or non-refundable smoke.

Since the hazard lies in the match, police have advised parents yesterday to discourage their children from playing with the fireworks.

Police records show no complaints on the use of illegal fireworks so far this year, but a Prospect Heights mother of five said her son burnt his thumb Tuesday while playing with a permissible smoke puff, better known to kids as a smoke bomb.

MIL B. Mrs. Norine Accetta, 9 Park Dr., and the victim is her son William, 10.

"I don't think smoke bombs or anything else should be sold to children," said Mrs. Accetta.

She said she thought all fireworks were outlawed and ~~not~~ not be sold to children.

paying $7 million for a retention basin north of Central

Rd. to handle Weiler Creek to handle Chief Engineer Frank Dillon reportedly told Mount Prospect Mayor

Mount Prospect Mayor Daniel Crogger earlier that the district would be willing to pick up that tab and tried to enlist the support of Mount Prospect and other contributors for the Bacon plan.

The retention basin is one part of the Bacon Engineering Co. report now being prepared for the village board and, if the state or sanitary district does not pay for it, officials have said there will be no other recourse than federal aid.

"If children play with these fireworks, they should do so only under the supervision of their parents and on their own property," said Lt. Irvin McDougall of Arlington Heights police.

McDougall said the smoke emitted by some of the fireworks can cause blurred vision and result in an accident.

An Educator in Perspective:

Buying Time Until Reform Hikes School Support Cash

BY RICHARD CRANE

How does a new superintendent of schools spend his first day on the job?

Dr. Donald Strong, who became superintendent of Arlington Heights District 1 Monday, said:

"Mostly just talking to members of our staff and asking questions. I need to learn much as I can about the work of my new associates and find out what they regard their problems and opportunities."

"I am taking a special interest in certain questions that are soon to face such as the opening of bids for the new Rand Junior High School where we stand on teacher recruitment." Strong continued.

"I REALLY cannot discuss District 21 matters very well yet, but it is not because I am unwilling, but because I haven't done enough homework yet," the new superintendent said.

But he was quite willing to discuss his general views on the conduct of elementary schools in Chicago suburbs.

School support is a question faced by all Illinois schools but especially those in the suburbs, where the number of students is increasing more rapidly than local tax funds, Strong believes that the problem must be attacked quickly at two levels—local and state.

Because sources of tax revenue vary so widely from community to community, Strong believes that the state must assume a stronger role in elementary school support.

He will work through professional educational groups to seek from the General Assembly in its next regular session additional support for elementary schools. In this way, the state can "buy time" until more permanent solutions can be developed.

The state constitution in revenue article are at present, Strong believes, too general to program in public education. For more permanent and long-range solutions, we need to look to a rewriting of the state constitution which can provide a new revenue article. Strong thinks the constitutional convention (con-con) referendum in November can be passed. "The road won't be easy, but I think Illinois can save these problems."

"Good teachers and good teaching are the heart of any school system. Because good teachers, especially those with experience, are in limited supply and because teaching is a career, it is difficult to replace them. If Chicago suburbs are consistently expanding, there is keen competition between school districts in teacher recruitment to the just as the cost of living increases."

Judges of the competition are President of the District 21 School Board Dr. Frank Smith, Herald Reporter Mary Dresser and Day Reporter Betty Brooks.

Competing for coronation as Parade Queen are June 1967-68 Misses of Forest View High School, Jane Oestmann of Arlington High School and

The outstanding entries will be announced by Mayor Woods and a fireworks display, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Forest View High School football field.

Fourth of July Comes to Vietnam

BY RICHARD CRAB

Today is the Fourth of July in Vietnam. When a member of your family is in Vietnam, you soon learn that it is slowly Sunday there when it is still Saturday here.

We have been making an intense study of Vietnam this year with our son, Owen, as the teacher.

If the main exercise were not such a serious matter, we would consider it one of our great educational opportunities of the decade.

Owen left for Vietnam after a Christmas leave and has been stationed at Camp Radcliffe near An Khe in the Central Highlands southwest of Da Nang. Before going into service, his first year in service, he was a teacher of tele-radio communication at Fort Gordon, Ga.

When the rapid buildup occurred in Vietnam during the winter, all the men on the Fort Gordon teaching staff were re-assigned to Vietnam and put in any position in which they would be useful. Owen ended up in the records department of the 1st Cavalry Division.

THE ARMY post at An Khe is a helicopter base. It is highly fortified and is about the size of Arlington Heights. It is surrounded by a "iron line" that is located at night and covered with electronic sensors that sound an alarm if a man attempts to walk across it. Guard towers are spaced along the green line around the base. Owen speaks a 10 to 12-hour day on records and takes his turn guarding the green line some nights. Although his base has been hit by mortar fire several times, it is considered one of the safest army installations in Vietnam.

We get one or more taped communications from Owen a week. Most of the tapes come through in four or five days. We usually have the tape he makes in Vietnam on Sunday by Thursday or Friday. Most of his tapes have the sound of artillery fire, some blazes so loud as to be starting to us. Here are some of the things we have learned from Owen's Vietnam tapes:

—WEATHER. An Khe is in the north of South Vietnam. During the winter, low temperatures were in the 50s with daytime highs ranging from 75 to 85. June temperatures have moved up, but even so some June days in Arlington Heights have been hotter than An Khe, though daytime highs are generally above 90. An Khe's weather does change. A weather system moved into An Khe late in June with these days of Colorado-like weather. There was little rain during the winter, but showers occur almost daily late in the afternoon during the summer.

—ABOUT THE WAR. Owen says his attitude has become more hawkish and that many of the men at An Khe are more hawkish than he. The men clack at the remote platoon in U.S. military power. Owen says that, from An Khe, the men figure the war has been about 70 per cent won and that it is unthinkably to fall to push on to an unknown prize with the pressure of the object of an independent South Vietnam.

—BIG POWER WAR. The boys at An Khe regard that Vietnam is a big power struggle. Russian and Chinese weapons are captured repeatedly. Those are made in the U.S.

—GREATEST PROBLEM. Boredom. The major problem is any object from being or some form of improvised resistance. Greatly appreciated are American magazines, especially Time. The Vietnam edition of Time arrives two weeks or more after it is released in the U.S. Aime Sarah in Chicago arranges that the moment the can get it up the Time printing plant in Chicago. With luck, the magazine reaches Owen in Vietnam by Friday, the same day as the date on the cover. Time is such an amazing event that the officer in charge called Owen in to ask him how his family could arrange such a thing. Owen has no idea how many letters read by Time magazine. They especially like the American advertisements which do not appear in the Vietnam issue of Time.

—WEAPONS. Owen said the American weapons being used are amazing. When he does night guard duty, he and the new stereotypes with which he can see as well as distance as he can during daylight. In May he discovered a Viet Cong team outside the "granite" setting up mortars. They managed to fire four or five shells by the time Owen turned in the alarm. Then came the devastating counter attack. Flares were fired into the sky and they lit the area for day for 10 miles around. The artillery on the An Khe base went into action and "hot" anyone in the VC team to which was unthinkably. Owen said, Owen's tapes again and again say tribute to the helicopter and the 1st Cavalry platoon. The magazine on Henry County "look like a river of fire at night."

—NATIVE PEOPLE. Owen has great hopes for the people of South Vietnam. They are hard working, endure tremendous hardships and are almost without education. The natives will not stand, but given the opportunity, even as Americans do. They live around the base in huts with dirt floors. They are resourceful.

At An Khe, jeep motors repeatedly disappeared from the end of the ponds. It was impossible to find the culprit during the dry season, but after the first rain one of the natives was apprehended because his trucks from the pond were leaking deep. Many Vietnamese work on the army base and most of them are good workmen.

—HILARIOUS. The American fighting men has a strong sense of humor. The most important word with Americans in Vietnam is "rotate," meaning rotate home. An rotation date approaches, the men speak of "going home." The clause says when new recruits arrive at the base is to explain that they "ought to by a little real estate so they can make some money out of the inflation because they will rotate before they do."

Plan to Zap 'Yes' Votes For Parks

"Zap the Gap" with more parks is the theme of the production campaign being used by the Citizens Committee for the Park Refunding.

Tuesday night, members of the committee will be out in force to contact residents in Arlington Heights and encourage them to approve the $2.5 million request of the Arlington Heights Park District for new pools and for replacing old ones.

The "zap" theme will make its first public appearance Thursday, when the park district will enter a float in the Arlington Heights Fourth of July parade.

Committees can anticipate a series of radio spots and brochures July 18 when the "zap" theme will be used.

Clinic Moved to Wheeling

The social service clinic formerly located in the District 21 administration center has been moved to Wheeling High School.

The facility housed clinic staffed with social workers, psychologists, and counselors who help people work out their family problems.

Burglars Score Here Four Times

Four burglaries were reported to the Arlington Heights police last week.

Sen. Schick, 703 E. Falcon Dr., is missing a diamond ring, a watch and a movie camera. No estimate of the value was given.

The unlocked garage in his basement at 1215 N. Western was burglarized last week.

William Pankse said he was missing golf clubs and golf bag valued at $200 from the garage.

Three broke into several construction trailers in the Sunny Ridge area and stole a selection of lawn mowers and riding mowers.

A trailer owned by the Dew Electric Co. also was damaged, according to a company foreman, Patrick Conner. Detectives reported that entry to the trailer apparently was gained by wrenching the door locks open.

Dr. Donald M. Thomas, superintendent of Elk Grove School District 39, was elected yesterday by the National Education Association (NEA) as one of its two directors from Illinois.

Richard V. Vanecko, assistant District 39 superintendent in charge of instruction, compared Thomas' new responsibilities to those of a school board member.

"He will undoubtedly be involved in policy-making for NEA," said Vanecko. "He will, of course, be a member of the District 39 superintendent's staff."

NEA is holding its annual convention in Dallas. About 300 delegates from Illinois are attending, including 250 educators from the Chicago area.

Thomas stressed four areas of concern in his campaign for election: concentration on urban education, new certification programs, increased political activity by teachers and professional behavior of educational personnel.

At the same time, he served on an NEA commission on the use of teaching talent.

In 1960, Thomas was appointed director of testing at Prospect High School, serving there also as counselor. In 1961, he became assistant principal at Prospect.

He has introduced programmed materials in English, began self-imposed scheduling for students and led research into school organization.

Thomas also has been on school law and taught an extension course for Bradley University.

THOMAS, 43, graduated from the University of Duquesne in 1949 and received a Master of Arts in Education degree in 1951 from the University of Illinois. He has done additional graduate work at Iowa State, Drake University, and the College of William and Mary.

Married, with three children, Thomas lives in Barrington. He has served as a member of the steering committee, North Cook County Council on Education.

The Knights couldn't seem to keep anybody on base as they got on base came across the plate. Prospect managed to save him, but none for extra bases, while the Broncos picked up eleven hits and did some scoring on a few Prospect defensive mistakes.

BARRINGTON was quiet in the first inning, a single and a walk being the only acts of the game in the top of the file on a pair of walks and a single.

The Broncos sent home three runs on four hits in the second, but managed four hits in the following inning on only two hits. A triple was the only hit in the fourth inning, but Barrington put across two additional runs to give them a seemingly unassailable lead.

PROSPECT was subdued, but they did not abandon their hopes in the second half of the game in the top of the file on a pair of walks and a single.

The Broncos added little to injury in the sixth inning, as they put across their sixth run, as they began to get easy both on and off the field.

Jerry Walsh took himself the victim of an exceptional stretch by Senator first baseman Jim Moran on this short-out ground out. We're was also in on another fine Senator fielding effort as he and pitcher Chuck Cranston turned a line drive by Jim Seely into a double play.

The first batter of the game yesterday, homecoming hero for the Senators, kept a watchful eye on a Jerry Walsh broussard pitch, making sure that the ball is safely in line as Don Lahen's hands before he comes down from his built-in-type maneuver. (Photos by Linda

Game of the Day Walsh Pitches, Hits Sox to Win

BY LINDA GAMMILL

The first-place Sox of the American division of the Mount Prospect Breeze hit a five-run performance from Jerry Walsh who, in addition to hurling a no-hitter against the Senators, clubbed a two-run homer in the first inning to lead his team-mates to a 6-0 win last night.

The Sox enjoyed for all of their runs in the first inning on four hits, three of which were for extra bases. Tim Wertz doubled to short as the first batter, but Mark one by second baseman Steve Hauer and one by shortstop Jim Moran, propelled Lahen and Seely across the plate and put Marty Rittchen on second and Paul Hershiser on third.

Senator pitcher Cranston, who took the game, the pitcher took over for a second time in the inning. Cranston finally caught Wertz with a strikeout and put Peterson to pop up for their third out.

Walsh all of the scoring end of the game, the pitcher took over for a second time in the inning. Cranston finally caught Wertz with a strikeout and put Peterson to pop up for their third out.

all three batters he faced.

But the story of the game was Walsh's hot act of strong performance. The young Sox hurler struck out 11 batters in the five-inning contest, and although he gave up seven walks, he was in control all the way. He loaded the bases in the third with cheaply passed, but they came after the first two men up and Walsh whiffed Larry Johnson to end the inning without tarnishing his brilliant mound job.

Walsh exerted the game with two walks, but an infield error, a strikeout and a pop-up to second killed the side. The first two batters in the second whiffed, but Scott Zerkowicz gave a pass. The pitcher, Cranston, then grounded out to first.

Cranston and first baseman

Joe Nieves pitched Sox off in a close play. The win gave the Sox an 8-3 record, still the best in the league.

Lions Shut Out Arlington, 4-0

BY RICK PRICE

Little Seely, though he's making a great throw, makes up his mind after the fact in the third inning, his first at bat after replacing Don Lahen in the first inning. Seely was doubled off by the Sox, but he quickly made a line drive back to the pitcher, who a Seely, made it in time to catch Jimmie off base.

The respected Lion didn't seem to realize that he was pitching to the District nine league leaders as he worked the full seven innings on the hit, walking only one while fanning five. Seely was aided by a sharp defensive unit that more than made up for his play to prevent an Arlington Heights score.

The loss shortened Arlington Heights' record to 1-1. Nine top, leaving Lion Seely's record with a 2-2. Seely was aided by a sharp defensive unit that more than made up for his play to prevent an Arlington Heights score.

line shot to left field easily from Woodcock to center moving from third.

The second scored the Lion's last run in the sixth inning. The young second baseman led off the inning by tapping another line drive into left and moved to third when Jim Milley bobbed Donahue's sacrifice bunt. It was a controversial call that saw Peter sent from the game. Kenny was sent home with the final line run on a ball by Gurn with George Ciccio at the plate.

Boy Scouts of Troop 37, St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, convened a 34 ft. high signal tower in a campsite at Lake Zurich last weekend. Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Eugene Shapiro, the boys cut, trimmed and assembled the necessary frame from an overgrown tree. They then fastened all parts by jacking, with corded-off rope, and saw. The completed tower, with observation platform and climbing ladder was found in perfect position. It was topped off with an American flag. The event was a "Father and Son" camp-out and was highlighted by a steak fry Saturday night.

Keeping Abreast of the Market

While looking over the Wall Street Journal the other morning an interesting little item caught my attention. It was sandwiched in between a story about "inland mutual funds" and another concerning a possible law involving two of the nation's largest planning manufacturers. Of the three... I thought it the most interesting.

It reads a course is being held to apply complex engineering principles of stress and load to improve treatment design. The course is being sponsored by Lovelace Co., a woman's engineering concern with sales of $60 million a year.

Arthur Gross, chairman of Lovelace said, "Considering the complex structure of the garment, we feel that the application of engineering concepts may well make a significant contribution to improvements in design."

MANY OF THE LARGEST engineering colleges in the past have agreed to distribute application forms. Only Massachusetts Institute of Technology declined, indicating that this particular field of engineering was not their dish.

According to a press release, "supportive engineering-design calculations, which may range from slide-rule computations to elaborate studies involving digital computer methods" will be required by contract engineers.

Use of live models as aids-in design is not mentioned in the contract rules, though it is reasonable to suppose that testing of some type will be necessary after design have left the drafting board.

CONTEST INSTRUCTIONS were clearly that although innovation of design is desired, function, styling, comfort and safety are also of paramount importance.

The factors of safety, the contest instructions explain, are based upon uncertainties in the stress distribution, uncertainties in material properties, as well as the static or moving nature of the load.

The Dow-Jones averages for that day reached a new high. "Puzzles of the week"... Why some builders spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on elaborate model homes, which are carefully decorated, only to spoil the whole picture by strapping multi-colored plastic flags all over the place. The end result tends to remind one of a grand opening of a gas station... or worse still... a cheap carnival.

Musicians Off to France

BY FRANK PRATA III

After three full days of rehearsal, the Illinois All-State Bands, Orchestras, and Chorus are beginning to reach the first glimpse of stardom that they have been known for in years past. The IMEA (Illinois Music Educators' Association) "base camp," Carlebo, has been drawing attention since its inception.

Several famous men in the world of music, including Dr. Lucien Callet, have been present and arranger have learned well as the professional sound of these select high-school-age groups.

On Thursday, Charles McCann of NBC news arrived with a host of cameramen to cover the activities. Their report was scheduled on Channel 5 news at 12 a.m., 2 p.m., and 12 p.m. Tuesday, July 2.

By the time this story is in print, we shall be on our way to France, on an undertaking that has never before been attempted - the transportation, sale, stock, and barrel, of some 219 musicians, chaperones, instrumentals, baggage, to take to play for the Annual World Conference of Music Educators.

These musicians have the rare privilege of featuring an original composition written for them by one of the world's most famous composers - Vlad Nedybo.

The number, "Flea Nomina," is composed for combined orchestra, hand and foot, and is a magnificent number, defying verbal description. Indeed, it may well herald a new era in music.

An extra note: Bill Harn's giant box of cookies has sustained heavy and repeated onslaughts, and is in need of reinforcement.

More than 400 of the summer class are regularly enrolled in 50 different colleges and universities in Illinois and at least 12 other states.

"Many, of course, are Harper students who will be continuing at the college this fall. Also, a strong contingent has come from community residents, including businessmen and housewives, who are attending to expand or to refresh their interests," said Stanbury.

Stanbury attributed the popularity of the summer program to the diversity of courses offered. Forty basic liberal arts-general education classes and 13 vocational programs are in session.

The most popular of the liberal arts programs are "Introduction to Sociology" and "Introduction to Psychology." The most popular of the vocational programs is data processing.

The first summer semester of Harper College began June 17. It will end Aug. 5.

People Waste Lives: Public Defender

"It's difficult to watch people throw their lives away," says Public Defender Elliot Price, of 8928 N. Steven Dr., Des Plaines.

"I get depressed at the futility of some people's plight."

"BUT IT'S very rewarding to help someone out who's at his wits' end."

Price was appointed last February to the suburban surrounding and including Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows and Des Plaines, to give legal counsel to those accused of crimes but who are too poor to hire private lawyers.

And Price, 29, says he has found a job he wants to stick with indefinitely.

"It's an opportunity to work in an area of legal practice that very few people get a chance to experience," he said.

"It's constantly changing, and it really tests your skill as an attorney."

Actually, Price was named by County Public Defender Gerald W. Gentry, of Chicago.

to handle indigent cases in municipal districts two, three and four.

Covering so many suburbs, he is in a different office every day of the week.

ON MONDAY he is in Evanston, taking care of district two matters, including Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Evanston, Skokie, Lincolnwood, Wilmette, Wheeling, and Glenview.

What then isn't time for to district two he continues to Thursday at the Skokie headquarters.

Tuesday, Price is in Niles handling district three cases from Des Plaines, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Park Ridge, Franklin Park, Buffalo Grove, Elmwood Park, River Grove, and all unincorporated territory covered by sheriff's police west of the Eisenhower Expressway.

Price spends Thursdays in the central office in the Criminal Court Building in Chicago.

A typical day begins with interviewing people accused of crimes.

"WE TRY to get as much background information on each person as possible," Price said.

"Then the court of that district decides whether a person truly needs a public defender."

On the basis of the public defender's interview, the court sets the amount of defendant's bond, so he can be released until his hearing date.

If appointed to take a case, a public defender will follow all the way to the Illinois Supreme Court, if necessary, Price said.

But, "We are primarily concerned with middle-managers and preliminary hearings on motions," he said.

"Felonies are crimes punishable by imprisonment in penitentiaries. Misdemeanors are crimes that are not."

"BUT LIKE the judges the kids are the inmates tomorrow."

Price graduated from Marshall Law School in Chicago in 1964.

While attending college, he worked as a clerk in a firm.

"When you see a large number of narcotics coming down from the effort, it does something to you."

"You decide you want to fool around. These people are plenty without you."

"They would do worse under the sun to just get and get a fix."

"You get a transgression of people here and there."

But it's the kids better me the most, but "Most of the ones we take are high school drop-outs."

"Kids who are reputation most deterring. Some of you see the same kid up at 2 in the afternoon who you represented in court at that morning and for you you got a big break."

clashes could be avoided, the report said, by K-12 planning.

However, much work by such a committee would be necessary to set up common objectives and philosophies. Science teachers working so such a planning committee might need time from some of their classroom responsibilities or might have to plan vacations during the summer.

An exhibit could be exchanged between high schools and their feeder junior highs.

Junior high French textbooks might be changed, the report suggests, so that seventh- and eighth-grade students would use the same texts that are required by AHS in French I.

This would let incoming students continue more easily in French II. It also might eliminate the need for special French sections and for much remodeling.

Another recommendation to the junior highs: don't use eighth-grade teachers to replace students for their high school program of studies.

The high school guidance people handle registration, the report suggests, and do it in three-way conferences with student, parents and counselor.

Hard at Work for Teens

BY MAXINE TYMA

Teens are on the move in Arlington Heights this summer. They work for a pack of mixed refreshments, work for garage coffee house facilities of their own, and just plain play.

James Brown, 22, of 349 S. and La., a college student, is responsible for much of the organization of several projects that aim to keep teenagers active in community life.

Two weeks ago, he began the job Corp to obtain jobs for teenagers, part-time and full-time, during the summer months. He sent questionnaires to Arlington Heights, Evanston, Skokie, Northbrook, Rosemont, and Winnetka.

James Brown, 22, of 349 S. and La., a college student, is responsible for much of the organization of several projects that aim to keep teenagers active in community life.

house at Recreation Park also was begun under Brown's direction. It is open to all high school students each night except Monday and Wednesday. The house is open to all high school students each night except Monday and Wednesday. The house is open to all high school students each night except Monday and Wednesday.

Recently the executive board, composed of seven teens from the high schools, voted to put their organization in the name of the Arlington Heights Youth Center.

The board members now are polling other members to obtain majority opinion on whether to incorporate as an independent, non-profit organization or to maintain a link with the park district.

This summer, the park district is offering the building at Recreation Park for the coffee house.

Rubbish Pickups Rules Clarified

Village Manager L. A. Hanson Wednesday clarified the regulations for having and preparing refuse for pickup by the garbage collectors in Arlington Heights.

Garbage and leaves are picked up at the back of residence. Leaves are to be in containers weighing not more than 40 pounds.

Lime, sticks and building materials are left on the curb in front of homes.

Regulations provide that sticks will be found and not more than 30 inches in length.

10th Palatine Band Concert At 8 Tonight

The 10th annual "Concert for a Summer Night" will be presented at 8 tonight by the Palatine Village Band. The band will play at the intersection of First Street, which has been donated to the Eastern Illinois University.

Surviving are her parents, Norman L. and Carol, two brothers, Brad and Brian, and a sister, Beth, all of Mount Prospect, and her grandparents.

"Visitors may call at the Lauderbach & Oehler Funeral Home, Arlington Heights, at 7 p.m. Friday.

Day Helps Poco Find His Home

Poco, a little salt and pepper colored Schnauzer who had been lost since last Tuesday, returned home Wednesday.

W. E. Thackeray, 126 Stratford, Arlington Heights, said that when their dog had strayed from home, the whole neighborhood looked for him without success.

Mrs. William Dorney, 1131 E. Grant Dr., Des Plaines, found the dog at the El-Mart shopping center in Des Plaines and phoned several police departments to find the owner.

Former Area Pastor Sends Back A Message

The Rev. David J. Fairchild, pastor of Evanston United Church (United Presbyterian, U.S.A.), of Skokie, has sent the following message to PD Publications, asking us to share it with our readers:

The Rev. Fairchild formerly was Minister of Christian Education and assistant pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Palatine. His wife, Karen, was a former teacher at MacArthur Junior High School in Prospect Heights.

This message by the Rev. Fairchild was offered as a national prayer June 30. It refers to recent allegations by a Senate investigating committee headed by Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) which is looking into an anti-semitic grant and the involvement of the First Presbyterian Church of Chicago with the Blackstone Group.

Last week, ministers from Arlington Prospect Heights, and Mount Prospect Presbyterian churches were among 350 members of Chicago Presbytery who pledged support in the church involvement.

"LORD, YOUR Church is under fire today. They're saying we don't have the right to be an effective working force in our community. They're saying we should minister to the needs of our community only in spiritual ways. Whenever they mean by that, Lord?"

"You know that anything meaningful involves risk. Jesus took it. It put Him crucified too. Self-righteous men thought they knew better than what you need. But that isn't true, is it, Lord? Because you know better than anyone what people need, don't you? You want to guide us as an effective witness in our community. You lead us not to exploit men, women, children, don't you, Lord?"

"But that involves risk. That involves giving.

Build Wall Storage With Panels

Is your car home? Left out in the driveway because the garage is so cluttered with tools, books, garden supplies, out-of-season furniture and sports equipment that there's no place left to park? There is a way to make out and storage compatible. It's done by using the garage walls for storage and clearing the floor for the car.

Simply wanted wall space into storage area is simple. Just install perforated hardwood panels over open siding or on 1-by-2-inch furring strips.

One-inch thick thick shaves, or 1/4 inch heavy-duty panels can be used. Perforation in the panels will hold hooks and heavy-duty fittings from which you can hang a variety of items: garden hoses, ladders, folding chairs, barbecue stands, skis and skis, even wading machines and lawn rollers.

Perforation such as paint can be easily added on shelves, measured-on wall brackets.

Sturdy hardwood panels come in many sizes, including standard 4 by 8 feet. They resist dents, won't crack or splinter, are lightweight, and can be worked with ordinary carpentry tools. For extra-heavy duty, use the tempered variety.

Perforated hardwood panels can be applied to studs or furring strips with nails, screws or special carpenter's waterproof adhesives. For best results, don't butt the panels too closely together. Leave the space of a matchbook cover between to allow for natural expansion.

In addition to creating organized storage space and making room for the car, perforated panels greatly increase the appearance of a garage. They're available prefabricated or ready-cut, and in random-grooved and walnut styles.

Tree Borers Mount Attack

Tree borer larvae which annually weaken or destroy birch, dogwood, lilac and redbud trees can be controlled now while the adults are laying their eggs.

These destructive larvae are found feeding in stems, twigs or tree trunks. Symptoms of borer attack vary somewhat but are generally noticed as wilting of branches, or declining of trees. Pruning of the conductive system of a tree and either serves its root or cuts off the moisture supply to the leaves, or both, causing wilt.

THE BRONZE NICHOLSON is a flat-headed borer whose tunneling produces knobby growths on the branches. Trees infested for more than one year show delayed buds in the bark where the adults have emerged. These adults lay eggs in cracks in the bark.

After hatching, the larvae move their way into the tree where they feed until the following year, when they emerge as adults. Borens in this adult stage may appear as holes, weevils, swarms or clear-winged moths.

The adult stages of the bronze borer is a beetle which feeds for a time on the leaves. For this reason, Davey Tree men apply bronze borer control sprays to the whole tree, foliage and all, not just the trunk or larger limbs in the case with most borer control spray procedures.

THE DOGWOOD borer is attracted to branch cracks, knots and wounds. An area of two feet on a severely infested trunk may contain as many as fifty borers and look as if it had been prepared with buckshot. These voracious feeders can kill a four-inch diameter dogwood tree in one year.

Lilac borers cause enough limb girdling and stem damage not only to so weaken it that infested stems break off but frequently kill the plant. Sawdust-like material can be seen hanging from openings made by the borer, as well as empty pupae cases from which the adults emerged.

Writing or yellow rhinoceros down leaves and the presence of whitish borers on the bark are indications of the rhinoceros borer.

SUCCESS IN controlling these borers depends upon applying more than one spray application since the borer adults are often present from mid-May through July.

The Davey Tree pathologist recommends the spray be applied once and repeated every 20 to 30 days through July. Recommended spray formulations are malathion plus DDT or lindane.

Preventing borer attack is best accomplished by keeping trees as healthy as possible. Borens adults prefer weakened trees when laying their eggs. Weak trees offer little resistance to penetration by newly hatched borers and are more easily killed by them.

Constructive pruning, drought, insect defoliation or transplanting "shock" may lower a tree's vigor and increase its chance of being attacked.

THINKING OF SELLING YOUR HOME?

FIRST THINK ABOUT THIS . . . . .

Are you prepared to interview and financially qualify every prospect who wants to sell your home, before you show them through?

Will you ALWAYS be home should someone want to inspect your home? (Transfered buyers sometimes have only hours to close the home they buy.)

Are you familiar with all the legal aspects involved in the transfer of property and the protection available to the seller?

If you find a buyer for your home, are you prepared to obtain financing for him at the best rate, in the least time, and without involving your self in the matter?

THEN CONSIDER THIS . . . . .

The licensed Realtor in your community can professionals in the buying and selling of property. They know the answers to these and all the problems that arise in selling a home. When you list your home with a Realtor you employ an expert placed to protect your best interests in what is often the largest single financial transaction you will undertake. That's something to think twice about.
